

In response to the global crisis, IMF and FSB have made several recommendations (see more) related to FPC monitoring. These include more effective capturing and monitoring of risk in the financial sector; financial linkages of systemically important financial institutions; cross-border banking flows; investment positions and exposures; vulnerability of domestic economies to shocks; and effective communication of official statistics to enhance awareness of available data for policy purposes.