

DFI conducted the third mission in this DFID-funded project to help the Office of the Prime Minister in Uganda to design a partnership policy covering aid and beyond aid issues. The mission conducted a workshop for all stakeholders (government, development partners, parliament and civil society) on the draft document, and subsequently submitted a final draft of the policy to government based on comments received. Since the mission GoU has virtually finished designing a monitoring framework for the policy, and a further mission in Q1 2011 will finalise the project.
