There are a number of ways in which developing countries can seek debt restructuring or relief from commercial creditors as follows:

- the forum of 'London Club' for negotiating restructuring of its commercial creditors, which is mainly used by middle and upper income countries,
- the World Bank's debt reduction facility for low income countries,
- and under the HIPC initiative

To assist countries to maximise their debt restructuring or relief from commercial creditors, DFI has developed detailed training materials and manuals , conducted research and analysis and provides
